

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Copyright Acknowledgements	x
Preface	xii
Introduction
The Science Fictional World
Donald E. Morse	1
Notes	8
Works Cited	8
Chapter One
Episteme-ology of Science Fiction
Kevin Alexander Boon	10
Notes	22
Works Cited	24
Chapter Two
“The Shock of Dysrecognition”: Narrative Estrangement, Science Fiction, and Utopia in H.G. Wells’ A Modern Utopia
Károly Pintér	26
Notes	43
Works Cited	46
Chapter Three
Leakings: Reappropriating Science Fiction—the Case of Kurt Vonnegut
Tamás Béneyi	48
Interfaces	51
Vonnegut’s Interfaces	55
Science Fiction as Poetics: Breakfast of Champions	60
Notes	67
Works Cited	68
Chapter Four
Cultural Negotiation in Science-Fiction Literature and Film
Brian Attebery	70
Works Cited	81

Chapter FiveSterile Men and Nuclear-Powered Vacuum Cleaners: The Atomic Bomb and Atomic Energy in 1950s American Science Fiction

Donald E. Morse	83
Notes	91
Works Cited	93

Chapter SixOctavia Butler's Maternal Cyborgs: The Black Female World of the Xenogenesis Trilogy

Éva Federmayer	95
The Alternative Vision of Octavia Butler's Xenogenesis	96
Black Woman and Cyborg Existence	99
Notes	106
Works Cited	107

Chapter SevenThe Search for a Quantum Ethics

Nicholas Ruddick	109
Notes	122
Works Cited	123

Chapter EightVirtual Poltergeists and Memory: The Question of Ahistoricism in William Gibson's *Neuromancer

Amy Novak	125
The Spectral Fragments of Popular Culture	126
The semiotic ghosts of Neuromancer's Cyberspace	128
A Double Haunting: The Permeable Border between the Real and the Virtual	132
Haunting the Present: Ghostly Narrative Disruptions	136
Conjuring the Past in the Realm of the Spectacle	140
Notes	141
Works Cited	144

Chapter NineBanishing the Machine from the Garden: Ecology and Evolution in Dan Simmons's *Hyperion Cantos

Kálmán Matolcsy	146
Notes	160

Works Cited	162
Chapter Ten
Orchids in a Cage: Political Myths and Social Reality in East German Science Fiction (1949-1989)
Usch Kiausch	165
The 1950s: Agents, Aliens, and Astronauts	167
The 1960s: Sputniks, Scientific Optimism, and Space.....	169
The 1970s: Dystopias and Anarchic Dreams	171
The 1980s: Post-Utopian Diversity and the Decline of Party Omnipotence	176
Notes	180
Works Cited	181
Chapter 11
When the Hungarian Literary Theorist György Lukács Met American Science-Fiction Writer, Wayne Mark Chapman
Donald E. Morse	186
Notes	190
Works Cited	191
Notes on Contributors	192
Index	195